

7 reasons to come back.

We're here for good.
 We opened our first store in 1962. Since then, we've given a portion of our profits to worthwhile community causes. In fact, in 1994 alone, Target gave $20 million back to the communities where we do business. We'll carry on this tradition here in Houston.

One way we support the community:

The United Way. Last year, Target employees pledged to raise $5.4 million for the United Way. We did it, too. It's just one of the ways Target helps our communities. Or is it 5.4 million ways?

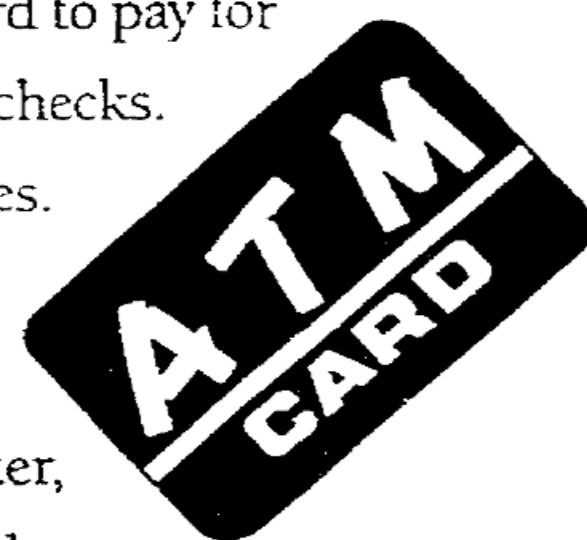

Places to go, things to do, money to save.™ Our TREATSEATS® program means you can come to Target and pick up discount coupons for the arts, entertainment and other family outings. We bring you low prices on far more than our merchandise!

Take the easy way out. You can use your instant cash card to pay for your Target bill. No checks. No plastic. No hassles. Just slide your ATM card through the machine at the register, grab your receipt and go.

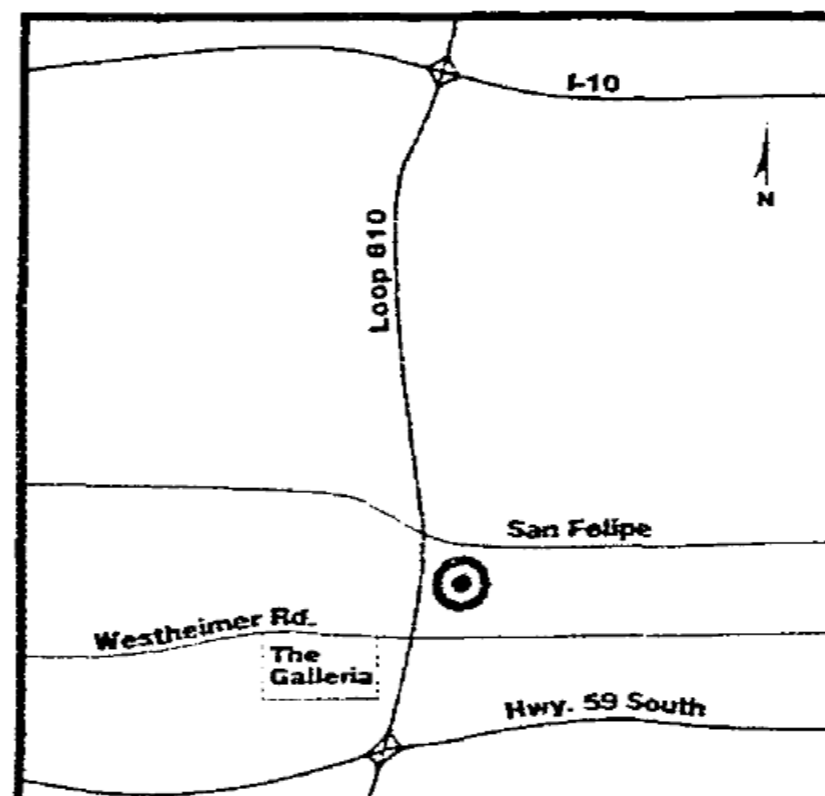

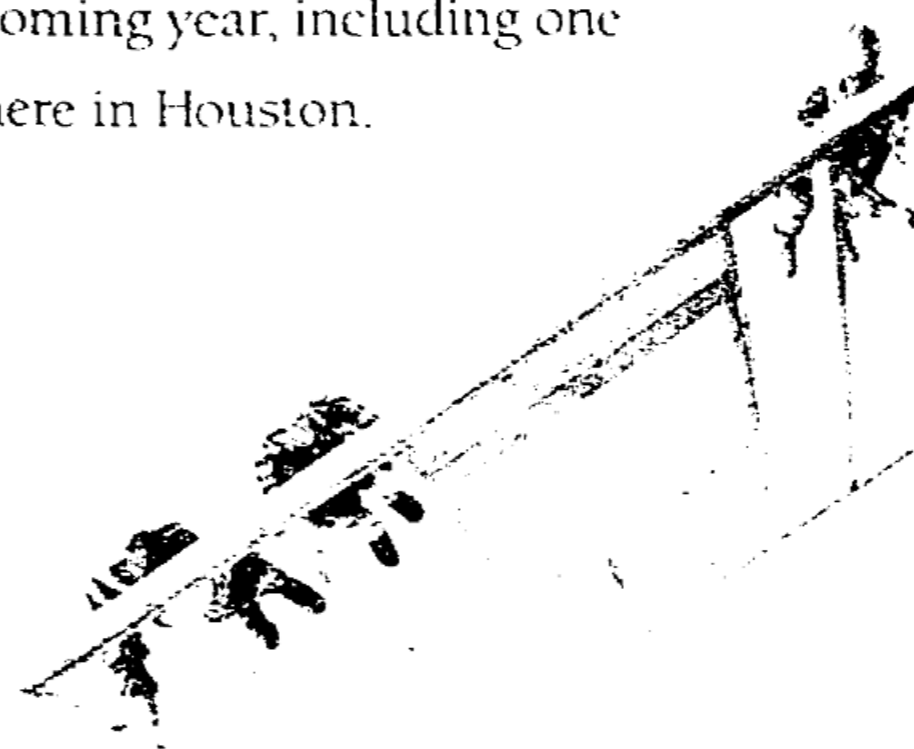

Getting married? Join the Club. Club Wedd®, our bridal registry, is so easy. All you do is walk down the aisle with a bar code scanner, and scan the UPC code on the gifts you need, and gifts you want. You'll be all set for a walk down the big aisle.

We've got good buys and Good Neighbors. Our Good Neighbor program is a nationwide network of Target employees who volunteer their time to good causes. Last year, roughly 40,000 Target volunteers completed over 3,000 projects. Meals were delivered to shut-ins, houses were painted for people in need, rivers and lakes were cleaned up, and money was raised in walk-a-thons throughout the country. It's a commitment we make to every community where we do business.

Habitat for Humanity. When we build a new store, we also team up with Habitat for Humanity to build a new home with people in need. Fact is, we're hoping to build 55 more Habitat homes in the coming year, including one here in Houston.
